- (g) No Selective Disclosure. Disclosure will not be made on a selective basis (eg, undisclosed material information will not be disclosed to selected individuals, and one individual or media service will not be given preference over another). The announcement of undisclosed material information at a press conference or at a meeting of shareholders, analysts or investors will be accompanied by general public disclosure of the undisclosed material information. If undisclosed material information is inadvertently disclosed (eg, to the media or an analyst), the information will be immediately generally disclosed.
- (h) Contacts with Analysts. The Corporation will not disclose undisclosed material information to analysts in contravention of paragraph 4.4(7). In addition, the Corporation will not comment on draft reports prepared by analysts, except to correct factual errors, since confirmation of, or attempting to influence, an analyst's opinions or conclusions may be construed as disclosure by the Corporation. The Corporation will not provide comfort on earnings estimates and models prepared by analysts. The Corporation will not provide analyst reports to persons outside of the Corporation or to employees of the Corporation and will not post analyst reports on its website.
- (i) Quiet Period. The Corporation will observe a quarterly quiet period (commencing two weeks before the date of any regularly scheduled release of annual and/or quarterly financial information of the Corporation and ending after public disclosure of such information) during which the Corporation will not initiate or participate in any meetings or telephone contacts with analysts and investors. During the quiet period, the Corporation will not be prohibited from responding to inquiries relating to publicly available or non-material information.
- (j) Website. The Disclosure Committee will monitor the disclosure contained on the Corporation's website. Investor relations material will be posted to a separate section of the website.

participating in Internet chat rooms or news group discussions on matters pertaining to the Corporation. Employees who learn of a discussion relating to the Corporation should advise the Chief Financial Officer and Corporate Secretary.

- (l) Briefing and Debriefing Spokespersons. Before meeting with or speaking to the media, shareholders, analysts and others who make or influence investments, the Spokespersons will brief themselves on what information is material and has not been disclosed. The Spokespersons will avoid responding to questions that require them to disclose confidential information relating to the Corporation. After meeting with or speaking to the media, shareholders, analysts and others who make or influence investments, the Spokespersons will review and prepare a record of what was said. If the review reveals that undisclosed material information was inadvertently disclosed, the information will be immediately generally disclosed.
 - (m) Disclosure File. The Corporation will maintain a file containing all public information about the Corporation, including media releases, press reports, analyst reports and summaries of analysts meetings.
 - (n) Rumours. The Corporation will usually not comment on or respond to rumours or speculation concerning the Corporation. All requests for comments or responses relating to rumours or speculation will be referred to one of the Spokespersons.
- (2) The following rules apply to the disclosure of forward looking information (FLI):
- (a) If determined to be material, the FLI will be broadly disseminated via a news release in accordance with this policy.
 - (b) The FLI will be clearly identified as forward looking.
 - (c) The Corporation will identify all material factors or assumptions that were applied in drawing a conclusion or making a forecast or projection in the FLI.
 - (d) The FLI will be accompanied by a statement identifying the material factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from a conclusion, forecast or projection in the FLI.
 - (e) The Corporation will not as a matter of practice update FLI unless required to so by applicable securities laws. The FLI will be accompanied by a statement that disclaims the Corporation's intention or obligation to update or revise the FLI, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. Notwithstanding this disclaimer, if subsequent events prove past statements about current trends to be materially off target or incorrect, the Corporation may issue a news release explaining the reasons for the difference. If it does so, the Corporation will update its guidance on the anticipated impact on revenue and earnings (or other key metrics).

- (f) Oral statements containing FLI will only be made by the Spokespersons. The Spokespersons will ensure that oral statements containing FLI are accompanied by oral statements that:
- identify the FLI;
 - state that actual results could differ materially from a conclusion, forecast or projection in the FLI;
 - provide additional information to the effect set forth in paragraphs (c) and (d) above; and
 - make reference to the documentation in which the additional disclosure referred to in paragraphs (c) and (d) above is contained.

Note: Trading includes any acquisition or disposition of shares or other securities of the Corporation including the grant, exercise or expiry of options to purchase shares of the Corporation.

- (b) tipping - disclosing undisclosed material information relating to the Corporation other than in the necessary course of business.

Note: Material information relating to the Corporation is undisclosed until it has been publicly disclosed through a media release or some other form of general public disclosure (eg, the Corporation's quarterly or annual reports or its annual information form) and the marketplace has had time to "digest" the disclosure. As a general rule, one clear trading day should be allowed to pass after public disclosure of quarterly and annual financial information and three clear trading days should be allowed to pass after public disclosure of more complicated information.

- (2) The directors, officers and employees of the Crystallex Group may become aware of undisclosed material information relating to another public company (eg, as a result of business dealings or negotiations with respect to a significant transaction or activity). If they do, the prohibitions on insider trading and tipping apply to the securities of the other public company and the undisclosed material information relating to the other public company.
- (3) The prohibition on insider trading applies not only to the shares of the Corporation or the other public company but also to other securities the market price or value of which may reasonably be expected to be affected by changes in the market price or value of the shares of the Corporation or the other public company. - (c) Ways to Limit Risk. Because of the severe penalties associated with insider trading, active trading in securities of the Corporation should be avoided. Purchases of shares of the Corporation should be made for long-term investment purposes and not for short-term “flips”.
